Highlights

Dear IEEE Members,

Last Thursday we had our first GBM of the semester! Over 200 people showed up to this event, making it our biggest GBM to date. At the GBM we talked about who IEEE is and what we offer to UCF students, including projects, workshops, professional development, and social events.

Additionally, we had representatives from AMD, including Rex McCrary, give our members a panel where they answered questions from the audience about what AMD was like and how they too, could be a part of that company.

If you were unable to attend the GBM, the slides are posted on our discord and if you have any more questions, email us at either of the two emails below.

From,

Alex Evison and the officers of IEEE

Photo Dump!

Below I have put a bunch of photos from the events we've had in the last few weeks!

To the right we have some pre-tailgating setup with our president, social chair, and the one and only, TINO!!!

Above and below, we have some photos from Game night, which was a great opportunity to get to know your fellow IEEE members.

To the right we also have some photos from the tailgates, where we have cup pong and cornhole as some activities to enjoy yourself before the football games.

To the right, we have some more photos from our GBM (obviously I was happy about something at the time).

That's all folks! Feel free to send me any photos you take at any IEEE events you attend 😊
